MISSOURI DAY.

HOW IT WAS CELEBRATED AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

AN EXCELLENT PROGRAM.

Speeches By Prominent Citizens of the State—The Celebration a Grand Success.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 31.—Yesterday was Missouri Day at the big fair and was celebrated in a manner entirely creditable to the state and highly satisfactory to the thousands of Missourians who were present.

The first part of the day's programme, the exhibit of Missouri live stock at the live stock pavilion, was a grand sight as it made the circuit of the ring. There were proud-stepping horses and all the breeds of cattle, besides mules, jacks and jennets. At 12:30 o'clock Governor Stone and party, led by the Missouri commissioners—Hugh J. McGowan, Charles W. Green and N. H. Gentry—entered the pavilion. At the close of the exhibit the chief marshal of the day made a speech from his horse, and said that Missouri was second to no state in the union in live stock at the fair. After taking lunch at the Horticultural building, the Governor's party went to the Missouri state building, where had already assembled many thousands. The lawn and two avenues were packed with people. The speaking was from a platform just in front of the building.

The programme opened with a prayer by Bishop E. R. Hendrix, of Kansas City. The address of welcome on the part of the Missouri commission was made by the Hon. Nathan Frank, of St. Louis. Mr. Frank always talks well, and he was at his best yesterday. He reviewed the work of the commissioners, and paid a fine tribute to Governor Francis for what he had done in getting the appropriation through the legislature. In closing he said he felt honored in seeing such a representative body of Missourians present. He then introduced Governor Stone, who made the address of welcome on the part of the state. A glowing tribute did he pay to Missouri and Missouri's progressive people. He was heartily cheered time after time. He complimented the work of the Missouri commissioners, and closed with a beautiful tribute to the commonwealth.

When Mr. Frank introduced the next speaker, ex-Governor Francis, whose subject was "Missouri at the Fair," there were cheers and applause. He spoke in the usual, pleasing, happy vein of his. He complimented everybody from, of and pertaining to Missouri. He gave a history of the early work of the Missouri commissioners and like Governor Stone, complimented the members on the grand results. He praised Missouri's resources and one Chicago man who was listening said Missouri ought to send that man out over the world to advertise her merits.

The next speaker was Dr. Pope Yeaman of Columbia, who told all about the educational advantages and the good society of Missouri. It was a fine speech, polished as is the doctor himself. If there were any Bostonians or New Yorkers present, they certainly changed their mind of the culture in the settlement of backwoods Missouri. This speech was listened to most attentively and heartily applauded. Hon. Louis Houk was the next speaker. He spoke on Southeast Missouri. He told about the great lumber interests of the southeast and showed off the resources of that portion of Missouri to a good advantage. J. K. Gwynn, the executive commissioner, followed on the "Work of the commission." He gave a history of the work done by himself and his friends on behalf of the state commission, and gave much valuable information. Phoebe Cousins closed the speaking by a talk in behalf of the women at the fair.

After the speaking a reception was held in honor of Governor Stone and ex-Governor Francis, and everybody had an opportunity to shake their hands.

Governor Stone Makes a Denial. NEVADA MO., August 31.—Governor Stone has issued a card to the papers of this city protesting against the recent criticism of the appointment of Miss Turner as Missouri's queen of beauty at the Birmingham Confederate reunion contained in the Nevada Notice. He says that the complaint of modesty in appointing a lady of his own family to the honor shows a lack of information on the part of the paper, and declares that he had nothing to do with the appointment; that it was made by General Lewis on authority he knows nothing of.

THE STRIKE OVER

Walters Advises the Miners to Surrender and Declare the Strike Off.

WEIR CITY, Kan., Aug. 30.—The long-drawn out strike of the Kansas coal miners seems about at an end. A mass meeting of the miners was held here last night, on the old fair grounds. The men were addressed by President Walters, who advised them to attend the convention to be held in Pittsburg today and there declare the strike off, with the understanding that the miners of each shaft send a committee to their own company, make the best terms they can and go to work at once. He stated that the depressed financial condition of the country left no other course open.

This practically means complete and unconditional surrender, as not a single company will recognize the union or any pit committee, and the men will obtain no better terms than were offered by the companies two months ago. Now the strike will be over officially, as it has been in reality for nearly a month. The men are glad of it, as many of them have seen this result was inevitable almost from the start.

A Suit for Divorce

James Claybrooks today brought suit in the Pettis county circuit court to be divorced from Mary, his wife. The parties are colored and were married February 17, 1883. They separated last June, and James asks for a divorce because Mary refused to cohabit with him, and because she made life a burden for him generally. W. B. M. Cook is plaintiff's attorney.

Will Return Friday.

H. L. Berry received a telegram today from Rev. Stevens, pastor of the First Congregational church, stating that himself and family would arrive home tomorrow morning from their visit to the World's fair. They will come via Hannibal, on the M., K. & T.

Found Bloody Garments.

Public Administrator Clouton unearthed several bloody garments in the trunk of the late Miss Artie Morgan while taking an inventory last evening. They were all pieces of ladies' underwear, and in case an indictment should be found against anyone they would no doubt figure in the courts.

He Cannot Live.

Physicians held a consultation today upon Heiny Young, the brakeman who is suffering from blood poisoning, and the conclusion was reached that the chances are that he cannot live until tomorrow morning.

Another "Gazette" Change.

W. Frank Dunn, late of the local staff, today succeeded W. S. Allen as advertising manager of the Gazette. Mr. Allen returns to the local staff, and the DEMOCRAT welcomes him back into the ranks of the leg talent artists.

TEN HORSES KILLED.

The Loss Sustained by Mrs. Gentry Last Night.

Mrs. Bettie Gentry had ten head of valuable horses killed at her farm, three miles northeast of Sedalia, by an M., K. & T. freight train, some time last night.

The animals were in a pasture, which is surrounded by a good fence, and the gates are kept locked constantly.

The loss will foot up a good many hundred dollars, as all of the animals were blooded and several of them would have commanded high prices if put upon the market.

A Sneak Thief's Work.

A sneak thief entered the office of Dr. A. J. Maury, Sixth and Ohio streets, some time yesterday, and stole several dollars from a purse that belonged to Mrs. Maury. The loss was not discovered until this morning, when Mrs. Maury had occasion to open the purse and missed the money. There is no clew to the thief.

Official Paper of the City of Sedalia.

SEDALIA is "in it" for a big trade this fall.

THE weather bureau last night reported another hurricane forming in the Gulf of Mexico and moving in a northeasterly direction.

THE DEMOCRAT yet hopes to see some street work done this fall. To be sure months of valuable time have been wasted, but some progress can yet be made.

THE president, Mrs. Cleveland and Baby Ruth left Buzzards Bay yesterday for New York, where they will arrive today and start immediately for Washington.

THE president may be a sick man, as alleged, and he may be suffering from both cancer and rheumatism, but the whole country will testify that neither of these diseases has attacked his backbone.

THE manufacturing barons, through their organs, say, "We were beaten at the polls on the question of protection, but we will destroy the prosperity of the country unless the majority of the people surrender to us."

ACCORDING to the New York World, thirty banks and fifty manufacturing establishments which had closed their doors prior to August 12th, have resumed business since that date. Such a record will soon break the back of any sort of a panic.

THE DEMOCRAT is glad to know that the people of Sedalia are contributing generously to the emergency hospital. It is to the kind and charitable ladies that the poor and afflicted naturally look for help and encouragement, and they rarely look in vain.

WARNER MILLER'S New York Nicaragua Canal Construction company has gone into the hands of a receiver. There has been a strong effort for several years to get the United States into the scheme to the extent of a hundred million or so, but the attempt has failed.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND had a tooth pulled about a month ago and the decayed bone at the root of the tooth scraped out. Sensational papers have made a "dangerous surgical operation" out of the trivial affair—so trivial in fact that it did not stop the president from going fishing.

MISSOURI formed the center around which the silver coinage forces rallied in the house. It will be the same in the senate, and then when the grand conflict comes on in 1896, Missouri will furnish a candidate who will carry the banner of Jeffersonian democracy and plant it in victory on the White House.

THE faithful representative of the people will not seek to delay the vote on the silver question in the senate. If we cannot have free coinage, get the question out of the way and take up the tariff. Let the country know by 1894 how many men have weakened on the great issue that stirred the American people in 1892.

SENATOR SHERMAN has recanted and apologized for having brought the Sherman silver purchase law into existence. Now if he will have the good sense, the modesty and patriotism to retire from further participation in debate on financial matters and content himself with merely voting when his name is called, the country may, at some future time, forget the mistake he made and forgive him for the great evil he brought upon the business interests of 67,000,000 people.

HERE is the St. Louis Chronicle's ultimatum to Lombard street: "The London money lenders amount to a majority as against the people of the United States just now, but it is not going to be for long. England has not got money enough, nor men enough, nor ships enough, nor guns enough to maintain the British gold standard in America. We are going to secede from London regardless of the consequences to London."

EVERY true American, every lover of his country and his race, will read with regret of the riots in Chicago, New York and other cities. It is bad enough to be poor and out of work and hungry, but when to these misfortunes is added that of lawlessness the evil is doubled. The lawless acts of a few criminals work injury to thousands of peaceable, law-abiding citizens and delay reforms that are being made in the interest of working men.

A MAJORITY of the people of the United States last November declared for a revision of the tariff. If we are to believe the statement of certain republican journals a few manufacturers have decided to use the power their money gives them to bulldoze the national lawmakers and compel them to refuse to carry out the instructions given. These manufacturers say, according to the republican organs, "We have grown rich and powerful through the tax we have been permitted to collect from the people, and now if our right to lay tribute is denied we will throw your men out of employment and starve your women and children. No verdict of the people shall hamper or control us; our money makes us independent of all restraint." That is the spectacle we are asked to look upon! If the American people are going to rule this country they will have to assert themselves and show their power and their firmness now.

PUBLIC WORKS.

Since the closing down of the mines and the mills in the west and the consequent disturbance of business and stopping of work in many of the manufacturing establishments in the east, the question of how to find work for the thousands of men who have had their employment taken away from them is both important and pressing.

If possible these honest, industrious men must be prevented from becoming objects of charity. They do not know how to beg or steal. The lesson they have learned is how to work. They have the muscle and the brain to direct it, and with an opportunity to use these they are independent, self-supporting, tax-paying citizens.

Among the plans suggested to meet the emergency is that of Albert A. Pope, who is known the country over as an advocate of good roads.

He suggests, says an exchange, that the state legislatures and city and town authorities take immediate steps to furnish employment in the construction of public works, and especially in the betterment of highways. As illustrating the good to be done in this direction, he says that the loss to the state of Massachusetts from bad roads amounts to between five and ten millions a year, and that in Illinois it has been estimated by expert authority at $100,000,000 per annum.

He advises the states, cities and towns, to borrow the money and to judiciously expend it while labor and material are cheaper than in times of prosperity. In his judgment the dictates of philanthropy, economy and wise statesmanship should be followed by giving work to the idle when the result is a benefit to the entire community, promoting health, happiness and prosperity by the preventing of poverty and its attendant evils. He further advocates a national appropriation for the irrigation of arid lands, thus giving employment to the miners of Colorado, Montana, and other western states, and opening up vast tracts for agricultural purposes. This would add greatly to the value of public lands, and in the end prove a financial investment with large profits.

BAIL FOR M. HEDGEPEETH.

THE ALLEGED TRAIN ROBBER DESIRES FREEDOM.

His Attorneys Accuse the Express Company of Robbing the "Foxy" Prisoner.

Attorney Alphonse Howe, of the firm of McDonald & Howe, attorneys for Marion Hedgepeth, had a conference with that noted train robber yesterday in regard to securing his freedom on bail.

The application to have Hedgepeth admitted to bail will be made on Sept. 11 in case the case does not go to trial. The chances of the case going to trial are very slim unless the express company returns to Hedgepeth and his wife the money and jewelry taken from them at the time of their arrest in California.

"It is a question," said Mr. Howe to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "whether Hedgepeth is guilty or not. If he is, it will have to be proven. The express company have a right to anything stolen from them which they can identify. Now they cannot identify money and there was no jewelry stolen. They have taken from Hedgepeth the means of making a defense. They have left him no money to pay the passage and expenses of witnesses for the defense. In other words they have robbed Hedgepeth."

"They took advantage of his helpless position to take the ear rings from his wife's ears and the diamond, which he had long before the robbery was committed, from his shirt. There is no law in the land which permits them to do this. They even took his revolver with which they claim he held up the train. So far no application has been made for bail, but if the case is not tried on the 11th we will make application to have him released on bail. He is growing very tired of being where he is and wants to get out."

Back Home From a Visit.

Major Harry Mitchell, a former Sedalian, but now of Nevada, passed through Sedalia last night, enroute to Warren county, Indiana, to visit the scenes of his birth and early childhood.

"I left there when I was eleven years old and have not been back since," said the major. "I am prepared to meet many changes there." From there Major Mitchell will go to Indianapolis to attend the G. A. R. encampment as a state delegate for Missouri. The encampment meets September 5th. Major Mitchell expects to return home by Chicago, and spend several days visiting the sights at the big fair.

A NEW SWINDLE.

Selling "Gilt Edge Butter Compound" Which is Nothing More Than Pepsin.

A new kind of swindle has excited the attention of the department of agriculture. Certain ingenious persons are manufacturing for sale to farmers a product which they call "gilt edge butter compound," or by other names equally attractive. It is alleged that by the use of this substance the agriculturist can double the quantity of butter obtained from a single cow or any number of animals. The process is very simple, says the Washington Star.

You take a pint of fresh milk and as much of the "compound" as you can heap on a silver dime. These you put into a churn, together with one pound of soft butter, and you agitate the mixture for a short time, at the end of which time it is found to be transformed into two pounds of good butter.

At the same time it was pretty evident that the amount of butter fat is not increased by this method, and in the resulting two pounds there can only be as much of it as was contained in the original one pound, plus the small quantity derived from the pint of milk. This fact is quite vividly shown by chemical analysis. Whereas, good but- usually holds only 16 per cent of water, the stuff produced by the "gilt edge compound" contains 50 per cent of water.

Nevertheless the latter looks very much like genuine butter, though considerably softer. The "gilt edge compound" is simply pepsin. Mixed with butter it produces an emulsion which enables the butter to take up an equal weight of milk without altering its appearance materially. Any other digestive ferment, such as rennet, will accomplish the same result.

The compound is sold at the rate of $2.50 for a two ounce box, the actual value being about 3 cents. One disadvantage of its use is that butter manufactured in the way described quickly spoils. It is an adulterated food product and should be prohibited by law.

A Winter Poem.

For your coal and wood
That's very good
Try Harris, who keeps the grain,
And give him a show,
If he don't make a blow,
For he'll get there just the same.

My anthracite is the very best,
My soft coal's just the same,
My stovewood it is all O. K.,
As well as my hay and grain.

So don't forget the place
Where goods are up to grade,
And give R. H. Harris a call,
The hustler in the trade.

MRS. RODNEY'S WALK.

It is claimed that she went ten miles on a hand car.

A report comes to the St. Louis Chronicle from Stanton, Mo., which, if true, puts Mrs. Alice Rodney, the walker, in a rather dubious light.

She wagered $5,000 that she could walk from Galveston, Tex., to Chicago in a specified time. She was to walk all the way and a guide went along to see that she did.

The story from Stanton says that she reached that town on her journey at 8 o'clock at night with the guide and her husband.

They registered at the hotel, ate supper and moved on to St. Clair. They registered there at 9 o'clock. The distance is ten miles.

The story says the party were taken down on a hand car by some section hands.

The woman certainly could not have eaten supper and walked ten miles in an hour.

MEN WHO GOT PASSES ON FORGED ORDERS.

They Got Picked Up in St. Louis Yesterday Afternoon—Notes of Interest.

The DEMOCRAT yesterday chronicled the operations of an organized band in swindling western railways out of passes, but even before the paper was printed three of the swindlers were in custody, as will be seen by the following from the St. Louis Post-Dispatch of last evening:

Manager C. M. French, of Thiel's detective agency, Chicago, has succeeded in placing under arrest the men who for some weeks past have succeeded in fleeing the railroads out of passes valued at hundreds of dollars.

Mr. French has been working on the case himself for several days past, and on yesterday afternoon, while in the office of General Superintendent N. W. Sample of the Denver and Rio Grande, three gentlemen presented themselves to the general manager, one of whom, giving his name as F. M. Hood, requested a pass from Chicago to Denver. Mr. French noticed the type-written request made was a forgery, and at once placed under arrest the three men, who gave their names as W. H. Sailes, Phil Detwiler and W. H. Parkinson.

All three of the men were at one time employees of the Denver & Rio Grande—Sailes and Detwiler as conductors and Parkinson as engineer. The men made no resistance and were locked up in the holdover, pending a further investigation.

Detwiler is the man who made the mistake of his life last week, when he presented himself at the Missouri Pacific offices in this city with a request for a pass from St. Louis to Memphis, the letter making the request purporting to have been signed by Mr. N. W. Sample, superintendent of the Denver & Rio Grande.

Mr. Sample's signature was well known at the Missouri Pacific general offices and the management was aware that the superintendent's signature was forged to the document in question, which led to an investigation and which has terminated in the result as above stated.

It appears that Sailes, Detwiler and Parkinson since they severed their connection with the Denver & Rio Grande have made a business of fleeing numerous railroads of passes which they disposed of to brokers.

The railroads consider the arrest a very important one, and the Denver & Rio Grande will prosecute the men arrested to the fullest extent of the law.

WHERE ARE THEY FOR?

A Mysterious Stranger Who Is Engaging Railroad Men.

In the event of a walk-out of the Louisville and Nashville will be crippled here as well as elsewhere, says this morning's St. Louis Republic. In Cincinnati it is believed that the strike cannot be averted unless the salaries are restored. This is hardly to be expected, as the company claims it cannot afford it.

G. L. Ferguson, registering from New York, is stopping at the Capital hotel for the purpose of engaging the services of locomotive engineers, firemen, conductors, brakemen, switchmen and all classes of men employed in train or yard service.

Mr. Ferguson was called upon yesterday afternoon and asked what road or roads the men were being engaged for and why, with so many idle railroad men scattered over the country, his principals stood in such need. He made the following statement:

"I am sent here by parties whose names I do not care to give to employ railroad men in all branches of train or yard service if they choose to accept the conditions, and the parties who sent me have not as yet informed me what the conditions are. I do not know what road the men are being engaged for or what salaries they are to receive, but expect to learn by tomorrow. It is intended to send the men to the points where they are to work early next week. All I do now when an applicant makes his appearance is to take his name and address, experience and references and tell him to call tomorrow afternoon, when I expect to be able to give all necessary explanation as to what he is to work on and the salary to be paid. I do not know whether the men are being engaged to take the places of the strikers or not. You know just as much about that as I do."

A large number of men called on Mr. Ferguson seeking situations. A reporter saw a number of those men and from them learned that Mr. Ferguson took names and addresses and told him to call tomorrow afternoon he would be able to give them particulars as to what road there to go on and what pay they to receive. All were confident, however, that some road on which strike was imminent was adopted this measure to secure men to the places of the strikers at on should a strike be ordered. Thenceforward impression among the was that they were being engaged for the Louisville and Nashville. Most of the men stated that it was the case they would not. One of the men, the spokes of a party of about a dozen said: "He must want men for a where a strike is feared, as this not a railroad company in the country that does not receive daily calls of applications for work at all branches. Nearly all railroads of experience belong to one or two brotherhoods, all of which together, and no brotherhood would work where a strike of haterity or gang of railroad fratres was ordered. In such case places would have to be filled by inexperienced men."

REFUSAL TO APPEAR.

Chairman Donny of S. M. A. A. Igals a Call.

That business of a serious nature has been brought before the grievance committee of the locomotive engineers of Gould southwestern system is apmt, although Chairman Cade has refused to divulge the nature of it early this morning, says last evening's Post-Dispatch. General Chas. Dougherty, of the Switchmen Mutual Aid association, together with other heads of grievance committees, were summoned to appear before the committee.

Mr. Donny refused to appear before the committee, but other railroad men did, and at two o'clock the committee was still in session. The meeting composing the committee arey reticent and Chairman Cade positively refuses to even give names of those who are in attendance upon the meeting.

The 3d and South Road.

Dwightredway hopes to start work on Northern railroad by January, says the Springfield Leader. Mr. Tredway has only lately in an active interest in the road some good may yet result. The people of Springfield must have hope because they have been disappointed over and over again in regard to the Northern road. It was exactly the same when it started in to get the Frisco and later on the Memphis road. They were only obtaining the greatest amount of labor at a liberal expenditure of money. It is no easy matter to build a railroad, and it requires the untiring efforts of the people.

After fully twenty years of agitation before the Memphis road projected the point that the North road has now reached.

There is to be many more miles of road constructed in Missouri within the next ten years and Springfield obtain its share. Although having twice the population and wealth of Kansas, Missouri is far behind that state in railroad mileage. However, Missouri is not a final state and it is only natural and reasonable to expect more railroad in the near future.

Through to Galveston.

Missouri, Kansas and Texas runs first train into Galveston yesterday. It arrived at 11 a. m. and was received with cheers by a crowd of people who had assembled at union depot. Arrangements were made to give the first through freight train from Chicago, which arrived at 10:45 a. m. today, a grand reception. It was received with an artillery salute and a brass band. The train was labelled at St. Louis with a banner bearing the inscription, "Going to Sea," while a cheer was flung across the track, "Welcome to the Sea." This was the inauguration of a daily passenger service between Galveston and Chicago, Kansas City and St. Louis.

Regarding the Rail.

Friday, September 15, will be a railroad day at the World's fair. A general tie-up of the L. & N. system by a strike of the employees is threatened today.

Headmaster A. Manley, of the Lyngton branch, was here this morning. The M. & T. passenger train from the north came in forty minutes late this morning.

Superintendent A. A. Allen, of the Katy, went south this morning, after having come in from the north and spent the night here. The new Union passenger depot at Sioux City, Mo., will be opened Sept. 5. The building alone was erected at a cost of $300,000.

Depotmaster Carnes will resume work tomorrow morning, after which Acting Depotmaster J. W. Grant will take up his abode in St. Louis.

General Superintendent H. G. Clark and Superintendent of Motive Power Frank Reardon passed through from St. Louis to Kansas City yesterday afternoon.

About 100 box cars for the Union Pacific have passed west through Sedalia, from the St. Charles shops, in the past two days, all supplied with the Buckeye coupler.

Commercial Agent Walter Shirk was last evening removed from the "Katy" hospital to his home, No. 623 West Seventh street. He is getting along nicely and will soon be out again.

Frank Hoar, postal clerk on the Lexington branch, and wife, left today for Boston to attend the nineteenth annual convention of the United States Railway Mail Service Mutual Benefit association.

The Memphis and Charleston has ordered a reduction of salaries to take effect September 1. Last night the machinists decided to go on a strike today, and it is given out by the employees that the strike will extend all along the line.

The Jacksonville Southeastern is in more trouble, and unless checks are immediately forthcoming to employes for the months of May, June and July there is likely to be a strike on the road, which will in all probability terminate in placing the road in the hands of a receiver.

The Missouri Pacific shops at this point closed down last night for the remainder of the week, in compliance with an order from headquarters to further reduce expenses. As the men were already working only five days of eight hours a week, the last cut comes pretty heavy on them just now.

WORMAN NOT DEAD.

Depotmaster Carnes Met Him at Springfield.

"The report that reached Sedalia some days ago, to the effect that Charlie Worman had died in Southwest Missouri, was untrue," said Depotmaster Carnes to a DEMOCRAT reporter this morning. "I met him in Springfield last week and he was never in better health. He and Mr. Wood, who also formerly lived here, are engaged in the egg and poultry business and are doing well."

"C. H. Tucker, another old Sedalian, is running a livery stable at Springfield; while Lon Swift and J. P. Elder, who used to work for J. C. Farmerlee, are engaged in the hide business."

"At Lebanon I met Newt Douglass, who is running a saloon, and George Hammel, who was formerly an auctioneer here, but who is running a restaurant at Lebanon."

He also invites all of his neighbors who feel so disposed to interfere the next time he corrects the child, and says that while defending himself he will very probably tell them something that may prove beneficial to them.

Indian Legend About "Oweta."

In days long past there lived in the west a beautiful Indian girl named "Oweta." She was as good as she was beautiful, and all who saw her loved her. The young men all sought her hand and love, but as she could only give to one she left with her tribe the information of her discovery of the "Oweta" coal (named after her), which is the most wonderful ever known, being equal to the finest grade of anthracite coal in the market; in fact, it is the finest grade of anthracite, and far cheaper. This coal is only handled by the Stanley Coal Co. Call and see them before you order your winter's supply.

LITTLE WOMEN.

Death of the Original of Louise Alcott's Well-Known "Meg."

Although Mrs. Anna Bronson Alcott Pratt, who died in Concord was never in any manner connected with public life and work as her famous sister and father were for many years, there is a sense in which she has been very closely connected with thousands who never saw her. For she was the original of "Meg," the sweet eldest one of the four "Little Women" who have been like sisters to all the young girls of America since they first appeared in literature. And many women who used to know "Meg," "Joe," "Beth," and "Amy" almost as well as their own sisters, and who rejoiced in "Meg's" brave industry and endearing womanliness and happy home life, will feel a pang at the loss of a familiar flesh and blood friend of school girl days, in learning that "Meg," too, has followed her sisters into the silent land. "Beth" died first, as in the story, then the bright and talented "Amy," and only a few years ago Louise Alcott, at once the prototype and creator of "Jo," laid down her busy pen. The children of Mrs. Pratt were not the boy and girl who figure as "Daisy" and "Demi" in the stories of the Marches, but two sons, whose place of occupation in the world is in the publishing house whence came "Little Men" and the rest of Louise Alcott's books. The younger one took the name of John Alcott legally in deference to Louise Alcott's will. The eldest son is E. Alcott Pratt. His little son bears the name of Bronson Alcott, in accordance with the wish of his paternal grandmother.

A GUM-CHEWING TOWN.

St. Louis Beats the World When It Comes to This Exercise.

"There is more gum-chewing in St. Louis than in any other city on the continent," says Corliss Jordan. "Brooklyn claims to out-chew any other city in the United States in the matter of prepared paraffine, but I have seen more men chewing gum here inside of an hour than I would see in Brooklyn in a week. I asked a druggist about it, and he tells me nearly everybody in St. Louis chews gum. I should certainly think so from observation."

"One druggist sells over $100 worth of it every week. The idea prevails here that gum-chewing helps digestion. A little of it may, but constant gum-chewing injures the teeth and impairs the stomach. It creates saliva, which is carried to the stomach, and causes a frightful waste of the valuable gastric juices. It keeps the stomach busy when it should be at rest. Some men chew peepsin gum because they think there is a lot of peepsin in it. There is not enough in a wagon-load of it to save a mosquito from one dyspeptic pang."

"The same fallacy obtains in this case as in soda fountain sarsaparilla. If you to drink a hogshead of it you wouldn't get enough genuine sarsaparilla into your system to mobilize a single pimple."

HONEST SWEDES.

In That Country Travelers Are Not Molested by Thieves.

A point which soon attracts the attention of travelers in Sweden is the punctilious honesty and truthfulness of the inhabitants. This is best seen in the many little incidents of daily life. When asking for places at a theater, for instance, the ticket clerk never fails to inform the applicant if, owing to the crowded state of the house, a better position would be secured with a cheaper ticket than the one asked for.

Again, when parcels are taken out by steamers from Stockholm to country places in the neighborhood they are just thrown out on the quay, where they frequently remain half the day without being claimed. It never seems to occur to anyone that they could possibly be taken by anybody but their rightful owners. On a canal trip of any length a little book lies in the saloon of the steamer, in which each passenger keeps his own account of the number of meals, cafes, cognacs, etc., he may take during the journey.

Hanging for Theft.

In the mountains of Kentucky, where the feud has its home, theft is regarded as a worse crime than homicide. It is not surprising, therefore, to find the Hazel Green Herald advising the community to "hunt down and hang for the good of the country" a house breaker who stole articles worth $30 from Porter Lacy's cabin. "Sneak thieves," says the Herald, "are one of the marks of civilization that we can well afford to dispense with, and if the one who committed this deed could be put out of the way it might have a salutary effect in deterring others from following in his footsteps."

Progress of Civilization in Kentucky.

Three thousand strangers, mostly mountaineers, visited Middlesborough, Ky., the other day to attend a circus, and there was not a Winchester or a pistol to be seen, not a fight or even a quarrel occurred, and the drunken men, if there were any, were too few to be noticed. This remarkable change from the old Bell county style is thought worthy of remark by a local paper, which felicitates the community upon the circumstances.

Make-Believe Was.

A Glasgow paper says that in a parish church near that city a baptism was to take place on the first Sunday of the month, but no water could be got for the font, as it had been cut off. "What shall we do, John?" said the minister. "Just put your hand in the font and an' on there's water in't," said the beadle, "an' I'm sure the water's all no ken ony odds."

A NEEDED INVENTION.

Chance for Fame and Fortune for Some Inventive Genius.

To the Editor of the DEMOCRAT:

The time for harvesting the very fine corn crop in Pettis county is near at hand, at least that part of it which is to be cut for fodder, and when a field of corn is ripe enough to cut, it requires that it be done in a very few days' time, that the fodder may not lose its value as feed by getting too ripe.

The harvesting of corn by machinery has not as yet been done so successfully as has the harvesting of the small grains. American inventors of farm machinery have not been able to get out a machine that would do this very heavy farm work satisfactorily to the farmer. It is true some simple device drawn by one horse, has been used by a few farmers, but if the improvement was made each year that has been done with self-binding wheat harvesters, in a short time they would be more generally used by farmers, as the uncertainty of hiring men to do the work makes the cutting of large fields expensive and requires too much time. With a good machine drawn by two or three horses the great corn crop would be more valuable for feeding stock through the winter.

Very few farmers thought 25 years ago that the scythe and cradle would be laid aside almost entirely in so few years, but such is the case. Step by step the reaper, then the machine to bind the grain and carry the bundles together has taken the place of the hand machine. What a great manufacturing industry these inventions have created in America and given employment to thousands of men every year, besides rendering the saving of large fields of small grain a very light labor for men and requiring but little time.

To-day, the horses and mules, so plentiful on most farms, remain perhaps idle, while the farmer, his boys and hired men do this very heavy work in the same old way, with corn knives, wearing out their clothes and necks, while the corn frequently gets almost worthless before they can get all of the field cut and put into shocks.

Now, it seems that if thought and inventive genius were directed toward the improvement of this kind of labor-saving machine for cutting and carrying corn each year, in a short time a machine would be doing this work upon a majority of American farms.

GOES TO ARKANSAS.

Will Be President of a Large Investment and Savings Company.

The DEMOCRAT learns with regret that Col. Henry Strother, who has for a long time been connected with the old and popular Missouri Trust company, has decided to remove to Fort Smith, Ark., where he will make his home.

Colonel Strother has just been elected president of the Luce-Monroe Investment and Savings company, of Fort Smith, and will give his personal attention to the business of the company.

While the DEMOCRAT regrets to lose Col. Strother, as a citizen and a business man, it takes pleasure in commending him to the people of Arkansas as a gentleman in whom they may place implicit trust and whose word is as good as a government bond.

He is a lawyer of ability, a business man of large experience and a gentleman of the strictest integrity. He knows all the details of the real estate business and can detect a defect in a title with unerring accuracy.

The company is organized on the same plan as the Missouri Trust company and will handle English and eastern money for investors. Col. Strother's long experience in the business and his enviable reputation will be a tower of strength to the company.

AN INJUNCTION!

It may Be Asked For By Fifth Street Realty Owners.

If Contractor E. G. Church attempts to commence the paving of West Fifth street after October 1st, as he stated at the last meeting of the council he would like to, the property owners will apply for an injunction restraining him from so doing. Mr. Fred Teubner said today:

"We property owners have discussed the matter, and have determined to resist, in every way possible, the paving of the street after the 1st of October.

"Nothing of the kind is allowed in other cities, and we do not believe it will be allowed here if we apply for an injunction.

"Everybody knows that as good a pavement cannot be put down in cold weather as in warm weather, and we have some rights that we will invoke the aid of the law to have respected."
